The Problems With Public Education December 2 Nolan Ryan Mets Jersey , 2013 | Author: Bonnie Contreras | Posted in Education

Parents, educators, college administrators and government officials all over the country are extremely concerned about the problems with public education. This debate has been raging for years, but is not closer to being corrected. In fact, in many states the standards may actually be getting worse.

It is practically impossible to assign just one reason to explain the problem. It is huge and very complex. There are factors from society in general, from the home and also from within the schools themselves. It has become all too easy to fall back on the standard answers of large class sizes and over stressed teachers. Yet there are many more forces at work.

Many of the complaints are about the qualifications of many teachers. They may have completed their requirements but are still not educated to the level of teachers in Europe or Asia. Many teachers are themselves a product of the failing system. They have never known anything else and never think to question why so many of their students are failing.

Large class sizes is one of the most frequently leveled criticisms with public schools today. Teachers cannot handle large classes and feel over whelmed. They may be a number of disruptive students in the room who make it almost impossible for the other students to learn. This is a very frustrating situation and one that has yet to be dealt with.

Many teachers and educational experts say that many parents are not actively engaged in their child's education. In many successful countries parents are behind their children one hundred percent. Parents must be ready to make sure their child completes home work and studies for tests. They must also be ready to work hand in hand with teachers to give their children extra help at home whenever necessary.

Many teachers are simply not prepared to handle a class of thirty students. They lack the authority and skills needed to manage this large groups of children. A good teacher who really understands their obligation to their students is now quite hard to find. More teachers are worried about pushing their students through standardized tests and getting a good review. As the reviews are mostly written by administration from inside the school it is hard to break this system. Doing what is seen as politically correct has taken priority over actually educating the children.

After studying many schools and classrooms experts have also cited the issue of too much busy work. Busy work typically consists of worksheets designed to keep the students busy, but with no real educational value. They are often over used by harried teachers who want to keep their students quiet whilst they work with small groups. In many cases it may be a word search sheet or a fill in the blanks work sheet. These have little value and are often not even connected to the subject being studied.

When all the problems with public education are examined it may seem completely over whelming. For changes to be made educators need to begin in their class rooms. Engaging parents and showing them they are also a big part of their child's success is a crucial first step.

In case you're new to painting Noah Syndergaard Mets Jersey , 'gesso' is gypsum or plaster of Paris spread on a surface or canvas and linens to make it suitable for painting or gilding (or a surface so prepared)

The first and most important reason is that it boasts of quality and professionalism from start to finish. It also means that your painting may last for a few hundred years. This is because of having prepared your canvas more adequately than profit minded manufacturers of pre stretched canvas. All of this adds value to your art ten fold, and makes you stand out as a serious and conscientious artist.

If you want someone to spend top dollar for your paintings then you need to do this. Because someone prepared to pay significant money for an original painting will know to look for something like this. As a dedicated artist, you will spend countless hours on your painting so you should make sure the painting surface your master piece sits on is solid.

Another important reason to gesso your own canvas or linens is the tremendous cost savings. You can spend anywhere from $20.00 $75.00 for an 18 by 24 inch pre stretched canvas or linen and possibly more! If you prepare your own canvas, you will have the best quality possible and for about $6.00 $10.00 each.

Because you are preparing your own canvas you can afford to make lots of mistakes when painting. Although, there are no mistakes in art. Its all additive to the final result.

The people who spend the top retail dollar for pre stretched canvas are also limiting themselves. Because when you spend that kind of money on a pre stretched canvas, you have the pressure of making a sellable piece of art with it, and this is not always the case. If the painting falls short of your expectations Neil Walker Mets Jersey , you're not going to want to release it, so you will have the pain of that, plus the guilt of the money you spent on the canvas, and your back at square one. That is an expensive way to paint.

I also think that if you take the time to gesso your own canvas and take that extra step is going to make you feel better about your art. What I mean by that is, as artists we make a painting but after a while if it has not sold or there is not much interest, we start to attack ourselves mentally about the painting. Its not good enough, people don't like it Mookie Wilson Mets Jersey , I'm not good enough, or maybe I rushed it etc, the list goes on.

Sometimes we do rush paintings to get them done and out, or you're tired of working on it. B. Cheap NFL Jerseys Wholesale Jerseys Wholesale Jerseys China Wholesale Soccer Jerseys Cheap Jerseys China Cheap NFL Jerseys China
